Good afternoon David. I am writing to you today with an appeal for a snow shoveling invoice. My complaints are that I have not missed clearing snowfall in the past. There was <1" of snow on the ground. I was given no warning, and the HEAFTY price tag of $510 is outrageous and nothing short of robbery. I completely understand the need for clean sidewalks. I live on a corner, next to a business, with heavy foot traffic. As for mentioned I have not received one of these in the past and have been diligent about cleaning my sidewalk. Other residents in my surrounding area, who had more snow on their sidewalk, was not cleaned and did not receive a similar invoice. Should the need arise that my sidewalk would need clearing, again, I completely understand and would be willing to pay. However this was unnecessary and way over cost. I have worked many places and had 30 car parking lots cleared, with adjacent sidewalk shoveled, and salted for under half this cost. Again, if it was necessary and justified, I would have no issue paying. I hope you will review and honor my request to appeal this invoice.

Thank you for your time, concern, and understanding.
