A Place to Mourn

Louis J. Ferris

All memorials offer solace to those who visit, creating a place for grief to occur. Memorials provide a place to remember the Americans we lost, and in so doing, it establishes a place for healing.

Memorials are sacred ground, which are charged with meaning. It implies not only life, but worship, contemplation, and suspension of ordinary activities. In a sacred place, all activities have meaning, all are transformed to rituals. Throughout history, humans have used memorials to either encourage a connection to the dead, in a form such as, ancestor-worship, or to appease them to prevent a haunting. In my opinion, it is both. It plays a role in group and individual mourning. It is also a way to banish the ghosts of the veterans by creating a space for them to inhabit and be remembered.

Hence, the role of our memorial is to provide a place of home for the lost, the mourning of the veteran, and a healing for the nation.

"We are about to embark upon the Great Crusade, toward which we have striven these many months. The eyes of the world are upon you. The hopes and prayers of liberty-loving people everywhere march with you. In company with our brave Allies and brothers-in-arms on other fronts, you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, the elimination of Nazism forever, and the oppression of peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

"Courage is not the absence of fear, but rather the assessment that something else is more important than fear."

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

"Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."

GENERAL GEORGE S. PATTON

History The Greatest Generation

We live in freedom because every generation has produced patriots willing to serve a cause greater than themselves. World War II was a global war that involved more of the countries of the world than 1914-1918.

American entered the war on December 8, 1941, after the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese. Our country's role in the war was to liberate the world from the evil of Nazism and to establish a new world order. Our country's role in the war was to liberate the world from the evil of Nazism and to establish a new world order. Our country's role in the war was to liberate the world from the evil of Nazism and to establish a new world order.

The war ended September 2nd, 1945, when Japan surrendered to the United States aboard the USS Missouri in Yokohama, Japan.

The personal loss was great.

16,112,546 men in WWII

406,197 American died in battle

471,278 wounded

60 million more soldiers were mobilized at the height of the war. 405,000 were killed in action, 400,000 were wounded, and 400,000 were captured. 400,000 were killed in action, 400,000 were wounded, and 400,000 were captured.

We will never forget the soldiers who served in the battles of Iwo Jima, Guadalcanal, and the Philippines.

When these men and women returned home, they were not met with the same respect and honor that they were given in the field. They were treated as second-class citizens. They were treated as second-class citizens. They were treated as second-class citizens.
