Hi,

I'm sure you have heard from people who will say that we don't need sidewalks, there has never been a pedestrian accident in all the time I've lived here. Or something along those lines.

The flip side of that is how walking on the street is stressful. A car coming up behind me, my neck hairs stand up a bit, I crane my neck a little to see if I'm safe. Most of the time I jump on the grass.

Walking along a sidewalk is just less stressful. Compound that uncomfortable feeling when walking with your young kids.

thanks

Joe
