Dear council members of La Crosse, I am writing as a home owner near the neighborhood of the La Crosse south library and as a mother with young children.

I have been reading about the appeal of the south library building becoming a historical landmark. I would like to understand how there is an appeal. The Heritage Preservation Committee made their decision and this is why there is this committee. Why should the mayor feel obligated to appeal their decision? The HPC has the expertise to read over the nomination and declare it sufficient.

As it was voted for Willow Grove to take over the building they are not new to taking on a historical building. They have recently took over the old Holy Trinity school and made into apartments.

Please review the entire reason for the appeal and the nomination of the building becoming a historical landmark before making your decision.

Sincerely,
Serena Burke
