To all who are making the decision about the Southside Library:

It was bad enough that this historic building was closed as a library, eliminating easy access to the neighborhood children to library resources.

It will be even worse if, in addition, you revoke the historical building designation.

I'm completely in support of designating the Southside Library as an historical building and completely against turning it over to a private enterprise or demolition.

The more you demolish or turn over historic buildings to private enterprise, the more you will devalue the charm of La Crosse (the reason visitors want to come here) and the more common it will become.
