Hello

I am writing to inquire about how to contest some snow shoveling fines I received this past year. I didn't realize I got them until my accountant showed me today. I knew they had been done because I was there to remove the snow as the company was there. I then drove to multiple city owned sidewalks to see if they were cleared, which they weren't, and took many photos. I work extremely hard to keep mine up which is around 110 properties. I had already cleared the ones I was fined on the best I could and layed salt to come back to a bobcat doing it which did damage to several of the walks. All I've ever asked in my almost 20 years of doing this is to be treated fairly and I feel this wasn't. Could you please tell me what my options are? Thank you

Will Hilton
