Agenda Items:

CODE OF ETHICS REVIEW

The chair reviewed the code of ethics, the code of ethics was accepted by roll call vote.

17-0169

Update on housing rehabilitation loans that have transferred ownership without repayment

The legal department distributed a legal memorandum regarding the status of the housing rehabilitation loan issues. Matty advised that the memorandum should be reviewed in closed session however since this item is not noticed for closed session, the memorandum should be reviewed and questions can be addressed at the March meeting. A motion was made by Padesky, seconded by Richmond to take no action on this item and address in March if necessary.

17-0174 Questions and answer with RFP developer

Gregerson explained Staff received three proposals, two of which are from the same developer. Staff recommends to cover the expense of architectural plans to allow the City more control over the project. While this is not typical, the Replacement Housing Program could reuse the plans for future projects. Richmond asked who pays for the survey and installation of new water sewer laterals. Staff explained these expenses are the developers. Richmond asked if Staff approached the nuisance property on the corner lot. Staff advised the corner property owner was sent a letter of acquisition but the owner did not respond. Johnson is concerned that the lots will be crowded and will not provide an ample backyard. Staff explained that the lots would be 46x140 which is a common size in the City.

Audrey Kader encourages the Review Board to seriously consider the twin home option as the neighborhood needs good quality affordable homes so families arent pressured to rent. Kader recommends all the twin homes all be sold as owner occupied. Ostrem asked the difference is in marketability between single family and twin homes. Spies responded that there would be no problem selling the single family homes but would not be able to comment on the twin homes as they lack experience. Joshua Wiedenbeck stated that the marketability depends on the quality of the construction and the list price. Bill Johnson is representing the La Crosse Promise, he has seen the demand for twin homes but it is important to keep the price affordable for millennials. Ostrem asked if the Spies will be able to handle the workload of this project and the Naval Reserve. Spies responded yes, the Naval Reserve will not likely break ground until the fall. Gregersen asked if Spies would be able to build two homes at a time. Yes, Spies does have the capacity to build two structures at the same time.
